

Critical Frozen Specimen

This test requires a critical frozen specimen. It is critical that this specimen be stored and transported frozen and that it is received frozen at PAML to ensure testing accuracy. The specimen cannot be thawed for any reason until it is ready for analysis. If additional tests are to be ordered, separately aliquoted samples must be submitted for that testing.